

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL.

VOL. XXIII.

STANFORD, KY., FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 1895.

NO. 55

WILLIAMSBURG, WHITLEY COUNTY.

—One of the heaviest rains of the season fell in the Cumberland Valley Tuesday morning.

—Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hingely, of Winchester, are here visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Keeton.

—Hon. R. C. Ford spent a part of last week here shaking hands with the voters of Whitley.

—The fall term of the Baptist institute opened Monday morning with a good attendance.

—The teachers' institute is in session here this week conducted by Prof. John C. Willis, of Mitchell, Ind.

—The young men gave a very delightful hop at the Central Hotel during the fair where those who enjoy engaging in the fantastic step might do so. A string band from Knoxville furnished the music.

—Hon. John D. White, of Manchester, was here last week. Mr. White went to sleep on the train and when he awoke found himself at Williamsburg and when he got off, he learned a judgment had been taken in court against a land company in which he was interested to the amount of about $750.

—Circuit court which has been in session for three weeks past adjourned Monday night, Judge Morrow and several of the bar desiring to go to Louisville. Two parties were sent to the "pen," one for three years for horse stealing and one for two for malicious cutting. Several days of last week were taken up in trying the contest case of the E. I. King will. The will was sustained.

—Mr. Grant Moore died at his home Saturday night of typhoid fever after an illness of about a week. Mr. Moore was in his 54th year and had not been well for some time, having received injuries during the late war. He served for over three years in the 7th Kentucky and was in several hotly contested battles. The funeral services were held at the Baptist church Sunday afternoon after which he was buried in the cemetery.

—Your correspondent had so much on his hands last week he did not succeed in getting his usual letter off to the I. J. The Whitley county fair was going on and every citizen who could do so and has the interest of his county at stake was doing his best to make it a success. The first day was taken up with the products of the garden, farm and household except a few rings in the forenoon, but the races in the afternoon were as good that day as any day during the fair. The crowds on the second and third days were very large and the show of stock decidedly the best. Whitley county has ever had. The fair this year was a success in every respect, besides paying very liberal premiums, it will pay a nice little dividend. The people who attended were orderly and sober and not a single event happened to disturb those present. Several horse men from a distance were present with good strings of horses, among the number were: Messrs. Dunn, Wilcox and Colyer, of Madison, Rogers, of Boyle, Riddell & Golden, of Knox, Thompson, of Garrard. The bicycle races were about the most interesting feature of the entire occasion. There was a race each day and all of them well filled. H. A. Baker, of this place, won the Whitley county race in 1:15. The weather was all that could have been asked for. It could not have been more satisfactory if the department at Washington had made it to special order.

The Times pays this handsome compliment to Col. Silas Adams, of Liberty: "The First Kentucky Cavalry—No. Volford's Cavalry—are at their headquarters on Fifth street. At their head is Silas Adams, somewhat the worse for wear in the matter of years, but his splendid and erect form is reminder of what the finest-looking man in the army was 30-odd years ago. Saint Paul called it charity; we French call it magnanimity, and whatever you may choose to term it, old Silas Adams illustrates it in the flesh—he incarnates it. He was Volford's right arm in the war, worthy of such a regiment, and the regiment was worthy of such a man."

Queen Victoria has a slight scar on her forehead, left by one of the three blows which an officer of the 10th Hussars, named Pate, gave her with a rattan in the '50s. He was sentenced to transportation for seven years for his offense. Mr. Pate died the other day in Australia as an ex-convict, but leaving a large fortune.

MIDDLEBURG, CASEY COUNTY.

—Watermelons as large as a balloon can be had here for a nickel and a cantaloupe thrown in. The crop is the finest for years in this section.

—Josh Mills, colored, was arrested in Cincinnati last Thursday and brought here, charged with stealing a suit of clothes from Mr. E. S. Wells. He had his examining trial Friday before Squire J. A. Wells and was held over.

—A protracted meeting is in progress at the Baptist church. The pastor, Rev. W. E. Foster, is being assisted by Rev. T. H. Campbell, of Lancaster. The meeting will continue two weeks at least and promises to be a most interesting one. There are no additions up to present.

—Rev. W. E. Foster preached a very interesting sermon at Turkey Knob school house Sunday evening. The sanctification craze has not struck here yet though we are expecting it at any time. Rev. M. A. Middleton will hold a meeting soon at Grove and he claims to have it.

—The brethren of the Christian church have about decided to build a new house of worship. Upon examination of the old structure, the frame was found to be rotten or too much so to build upon. If a new church is to be built it seems it would be the part of wisdom to build here. It would be more convenient for a very large majority of the members besides to the public generally.

—After an illness of only a week with abscess of the lungs, James A. Bryant passed peacefully away Monday morning at 11 o'clock. He was about 45 years of age and a most upright man, a good neighbor and much loved and respected by everyone who knew him. He leaves a wife, who was Miss Annie Coffey, and three children who are almost heart-broken over the loss they have sustained in the death of a husband and father. His funeral will be preached by Rev. W. E. Foster to-day at the Baptist church of which he was a most devoted member, after which his remains will be interred by the Masonic fraternity with the ceremonies of the order.

—The republicans in other portions of the county are disposed to complain of those of this county of their greediness for office and say that their brethren of this precinct want to hog all the persimmons. And it seems that they are about right when we come to think of it. There is County Judge J. M. Telford, County Clerk I. C. Dye, County Attorney Q. C. Golbey, County Superintendent P. H. Taylor, all of whom are from this end of the county. Now with Bro. Grider wanting to serve the county in the Legislature it does look like Middleburg republicans want the earth with the fullness thereof.

OF A LOCAL NATURE.

—John Boyle was thrown by a mule near Sturgis and killed.

—Mrs. Nancy Eagle, a noted horse-woman, is dead at Burgin.

—Mr. Ben V. Smith, secretary of the Pulaski Co. A. & M. Association, who is here, tell us that the amount of money made out of the fair last week was more than sufficient to pay taxes, interest, etc., but not enough to liquidate the entire indebtedness.

—The Advocate says that Centre College opened Wednesday with an excellent attendance but that it will be a week or 10 days before the full quota of students are in. The number of arrivals to date indicate that the present session of the old institution will be unusually prosperous.

—Mr. Ed Jones, of this county, was stabbed 32 years ago in a fracas. The knife blade broke off in him and all these years has been causing him trouble. Last Friday the piece of blade worked its way out of his side where it had gone in a third of a century ago.—Harrodsburg Sayings.

—The delegates from the four counties composing the 20th Senatorial district met in convention at Stanton Tuesday and nominated J. D. Goodloe, of Madison county. The convention reaffirmed the platform of the Chicago convention of 1892, and condemned the construction put on the Louisville platform as favoring the free and unlimited coinage of silver.

—The condition of the cotton crop is placed at 70.8 per cent, by the September report of the department of agriculture. This is the lowest average since 1881.

—Tobacco worms are doing great damage in Southern Kentucky. Jim Warfield, a grower in Todd, who lost 35 acres of the weed, and 100 acres of corn, committed suicide.

—The Futurity winner, Requital, again demonstrated his superiority by defeating the Western cracks, Ben Brush and Crescendo. He covered the seven furlongs in the Flatbush Stake in 1:26 flat.

—Sales of extra yearling steers at 3½; 75 three year old cattle at same price with $1 per head off, a bunch of hogs at 4c and 120 cattle 1,450 to 1,510 pounds at 4½ to 4¾ are reported in the Winchester Democrat.

—Four of the fastest pacers in the world, Robert J., John R. Gentry, Joe Patchen and Rubenstein were to have met in the free-for-all race at Louisville yesterday. Local sports predict that they will finish in the order named.

—E. S. Powell, of the West End, sold his old stallion, Erricson, Jr., to a Casey county party for $30. He was a good breeder and closely related to the fastest horses in the country, but his old age and the low price of horses caused Mr. Powell to sell him at the sacrifice he did.

—John T. Hedges, of North Middletown, sold his half interest in the 4 year old trotting mare Annine, to J. S. Wilson, for $2,000. Gus Shropshire has retained $1,200 for his rockaway gelding, which took premium here last week. He will take him to the St. Louis fair.—Paris Kentuckian.

—D. N. Frewitt bought 59 sheep from Lyto Hudson at $1 a head, and 55 from Aune Rice at $1.55. S. A. VanSickle sold to J. C. Johnson 49 hogs that averaged 252 lbs. at $3.77. —The American Defender was defeated by the British Valkyrie in the second of the series of yacht races for the America's cup. The finish was close, and it was claimed that the Defender was delayed at the start by being fouled by the Valkyrie.

LANCASTER, CARRARD COUNTY.

—Many of the gardens and farms in and near Lancaster are greatly in need of rain.

—License was granted this week to John Anderkin and Paulina Belle Hardin to wed.

—A serenade of good voices greeted some of Lancaster's fair visitors on Tuesday evening.

—Since circuit court has adjourned Lancaster has the appearance of a deserted village.

—Elder George Gowen will fill his regular appointment at the Christian church on Sunday morning.

—Mrs. C. M. Richardson, of Somerset, entertained last week in honor of her three nieces, Misses Nannie and Olivia Sweeney and Bettie Robinson.

—Prof. H. C. Poage, who has been spending most of the summer here, left last week for Kirksville, where he will be first assistant at Elliott Institute. —A Lancaster party enjoyed a day last week at a picnic upon the banks of Dix river. Boating, fishing, merry-making and eating made the day pass pleasantly.

—Mr. James Newland, of Paint Lick, has had on exhibition in Lancaster some of the coffee from which he hopes in the near future to reap such an abundant harvest.

—A wreck occurred on the Richmond road last night beyond Point Leavelle between the tunnels. No one was injured but six cars were smashed. It was caused by running into stock and "delayed the train several hours."

Marksbury and daughters, Mrs. Rice and Misses Altie and Bessie, are all sick. Misses Ida and Lilly Grant, Lizzie Thompson and Anell Tomlinson have all been sick, but are improving.

—Married on Wednesday morning by Elder George Gowen at the home of the bride, Mrs. Belle Lingenfelter, and Mr. W. T. West, of this place. Mrs. West was a handsome and attractive widow with one daughter and a nice farm of her own and Mr. West is a thriving and energetic merchant, who by economy and perseverance, has accumulated some of this world's goods. Mr. West was a widower with four children. The bride and groom left for a short bridal trip to Cincinnati.

—A series of serious accidents were narrowly averted Tuesday by timely assistance. A traction engine was on Richmond st. and frightened several horses. As Mrs. John E. Storms was driving down the street her horse became unmanageable and it took six or more men to prevent the animal from running off. Miss Alice Young also happened to be passing by and her horse became frightened, too, and several ran to her assistance. It seems as if something should be done to prevent the stopping of engines so near the principal drives in the city.

Miss Nellie Hackney and brother, of London, are guests of their sister, Mrs. Richard Ward. Messrs. J. O. Hemphill, J. Joseph, John M. Farrar, W. B. Mason and W. Sugars are at in attendance at the G. Miss Honeywood Huffman is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Bettie Embury, of Louisville.

The weather isn't behaving as well as it might, but after all Old Sol isn't making it as hot for the veterans to-day as the Johnnies made it for the raw levies some 30 odd years ago. Never mind the weather so the wind doesn't blow or the bullets whistle. Things in general have moderated considerably since Betsy died, as they say down in Quinine Jim McKenzie's neck of the chituna woods.—Louisville Times.

THE G. A. R.

The Louisville Encampment a Glorious Success.

Fifty Thousand Men in Line, Viewed by Many Hundred Thousands.

The City in Holiday Attire and Doing Herself Proud.

LOUISVILLE, Sept. 12.—"Jurnal-a-m!" said an old woman last night, who was evidently from away back in the rural districts, as she was swayed and surged by the mass of humanity that crowded Fourth Avenue and many blocks North and South, "I declare I didn't know there were as many people in the world." And if you could have seen the terrific throng as it jammed and rammed, you would likely have thought as she, if you hadn't given utterance to it. The newspapers estimate that there are 300,000 visitors in the city and the veteran boys in blue, with their friends, are here from Maine to California and from the Gulf to the Lakes. There was nothing like it ever seen in Louisville before, but as vast as is the undertaking of caring for such a crowd, she seems to be fully equal to it. Everybody seems to have somewhere to sleep, as nearly every house, private or otherwise, is thrown open and every other house appears to be a restaurant. The utmost good cheer prevails and if anybody is unhappy he fails to show it.

The city is decorated from end to end with the other with National emblems in every shape and design. They give it a gala appearance by day and the myriads of electric lights, arranged to represent the red, white and blue, blaze in glory at night. Many of the decorations are very costly, that of the Conrier-Journal and others being especially so. The noble old building, corner Fourth and Green, has 600 electric lights and over the statue of Prentice appears a G. A. R. badge in many colored lights. From the flag staff hang in four directions hundreds of lanterns. The building is the resort of thousands, who want to get a peep into the place where the greatest newspaper in the South is made.

The Press Quarters, on Fourth street near Main, occupy a whole floor of a large building and are ample to entertain royally the more than 400 newspaper men and women from all over the country. It is provided with telegraph, typewriters, writing material, files of newspapers from home and abroad and everything else calculated to add to the convenience of the scribe, while in a large ante chamber are gathered numerous and sundry things of creature comfort, which flow as free as water. Chairman R. G. Brown is ably assisted in entertaining by Mr. Young E. Allison and the local members of the press and Emmett Logan's "What'll" is heard on every side. If newspaper men were not the most abstemious in the world, there would be many of us past navigating, but as it is, not a man is even slightly "How come you so?"

Through the courtesy of our excellent ex-countyman, Mr. Tim W. Higgins, we are witnessing the grand parade from the portico of the Kenton Club building on Fourth street, while less fortunate people paid from $1 up to sit in the hot sun on tiers of seats that lined the streets along the line of march.

At 10:30 the old soldiers, headed by Louisville people in carriages and on horseback, began to pass the Kenton. Gov. Brown in a carriage was received with cheers and hearty hand-claps, but the people went wild with delight when Gen. Lawler was recognized, and as he rode by on his foaming gray steed men yelled, women clapped and waived their handkerchiefs, while he acknowledged with uncovered head and waves of his cape. Then the Illinois Posts began to pass and for 40 minutes they continued to go by till it looked like the whole State was in the procession. One of the bands struck up "Dixie" and enthusiasm went wild. One could feel a sensation start at the soles of his feet and traversing his body, make his hair stand on ends like quills on a porcupine. A Pennsylvania band played "Old Kentucky Home," another from away down South sent forth the strains of "Yankee Doodle," amid cheers and other demonstrations of delight. It was a grand and glorious scene, which filled every heart with greater patriotism.

The Kenton is opposite Hon. Henry Watterson's residence, which is profusely decorated with flags and lights, a U. S. shield appearing in many colored incandescents. In front sat the great editor and his wife and to their right that grand old soldier and statesman, Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner. A Wisconsin Post recognized the two great men and paused in their march to do them honor, keeping up their demonstrations till the old general had to come forward and acknowledge the compliment in stirring words of appreciation.

The drum and fife vie with the hundreds of bands in making martial music. Dixie and Old Kentucky Home are the favorite airs and they never fail to elicit hearty cheers. As I write a Massachusetts band is playing the former, while away down the line another is filling the Kentucky boom with enthusiasm with the latter. It is a privilege to see and hear the soul stirring exhibition of peace and friendliness and worth all the crowding and crushing one has to pass through to do so. Thirty years ago these hosts were invading the South to conquer it and were met by cordons of bayonets and tornadoes of shot and shell. To-day they are met with open arms and peace and brotherly love combine to make us forget all else than that this is a re-united country, henceforth to be one and indivisible. The old soldiers who march before us now brought dismay and terror when they visited us before. To day they come with swords beaten into plowshares and with peace and good will written on the tattered and torn flags they display with so much pride. Then they were in the flush of youthful ardor; now their steps are shortening, their forms are bending and their eyes are growing dim. A few more years and they will have beard the drum's last tattoo. May they then receive from on high the plaudit that a grateful country gives them here, "Well done good and faithful servants."

"Halt! halt! What melodious and familiar strains are those that greet my ear? It is the Stanford Gold Band and it is out of sight. Doc Penny is in his glory and Lt. Severance Post is happy. Both Post and band compare favorably with the best.

It was 3 o'clock when the tail end of the Kentucky contingent, the last of the line, hove in sight. So it took a little over four hours for the Posts to pass. An idea of the number of men and the length of line can from this statement be measurably imagined. It's no wonder they whipped us. Thirty years after the war there are nearly as many of them still in pretty good fighting trim as were in the Confederate army.

A shocking catastrophe occurred at 6 A. M. Wednesday. The Louisville Legion was on its way to fire a salute when an explosion of a caisson occurred, blowing a corporal, three privates and a driver to atoms and wounding two other soldiers. There were 60 pounds of powder and the explosion, which is a mystery as to cause, shook the windows out of buildings near where it happened, corner 4th and Broadway. In an hour or two afterwards the Times was out in an extra, telling of the terrible mishap.

The colored troops to-day were in their element and they presented a creditable appearance. Old Kentucky had the largest number of them, while if Louisiana had any other representatives I failed to see them. Each of the latter carried the cotton around the cane. Virginia had few other than colored representatives in the procession, as nearly all the Virginians fought on the other side.

Louisville is certainly doing herself proud. And by the way, she is much more of a city than many of us are aware.

From a booklet issued for the benefit of the visitors, I gather that Louisville has a population of 235,000, has seven miles of waterfront, 286 miles of streets and 100 miles of street railway. She has 173 churches, more for its size than any city in the Union. Of manufacturing it has 2,040, with a capital of $45,000,000, employing 30,000 men. Twelve railroads enter the city and each has been listed to its fullest capacity this week. This is the largest leaf tobacco market in the world, 175,000 hogsheads of 1,400 each, being handled here yearly, valued at $15,000,000. It is also the largest market for copper distilled whisky in the Universe, as well as the largest in plow works. Its women are the prettiest and its men are among the finest "that e'er the sun shone on," who carry into charming effect their knowledge of how to entertain.

Camp fires were lighted at Phoenix Hill, Music Hall and National Park last night, where entertaining programs were carried out. Music, speaking and good cheer prevailed and the old boys lived over again the stormy scenes of '61-'65. The business meeting of the encampment will be held this morning, when it is conceded that Col. I. N. Walker, of Indiana, will be chosen as commander in chief. The race for senior-vote commander is between Gen. Hobson and Capt. Minton, and here's hoping that the former will win. Three cities are contesting for the next encampment, St. Paul, Denver and Buffalo, which seem to stand in the order named. But of the result I shall tell you by telegraph. A big program is down for to-day; to-night the city will be ablaze with fireworks and to-morrow the burgo will be spread, after which the boys will go home to talk of the Louisville encampment as the most successful and pleasant of the 29 that have been held. So here's to them and to their families. May they live long to enjoy the fat of the land and the pensions a grateful country gladly bestows upon those who deserve them.

That enterprising firm, A. B. Robert, son & Bro., of Danville, sent up a two-column advertisement for this issue, but a lack of space made it necessary for us to hold it up until Tuesday's paper. It will appear then and if you want to read about new and stylish goods at low prices don't fail to peruse it.

Constable T. J. Benedict arrested and placed in jail Tuesday night John Jones charged with shooting Isaac McCormack, also colored. The shooting occurred near Middleboro Saturday night and three bullets from Jones' pistol struck McCormack in his arms and hands. The latter also fired a couple of shots, neither of which hit Jones.

Every man, woman and child who could spare the time and money took advantage of the cheap rates to Louisville this week. Agent J. S. Rice sold 310 round-trip tickets and will sell many more to-night and tomorrow.

It would be necessary for us to enlarge this paper to mention the names of all who went, consequently we will not attempt it.

Short.—Mr. John Lackowicz, of the Ottenheim section, received a telegram Tuesday stating that his son, Fred, who was a lineman for the Western Union Telegraph Co., had been fearfully shot near Columbia, Tenn., and in a few hours got another saying he was dead. Mr. Lackowicz left at once for Columbia and will likely bring the body here for interment. The messages did not state who did the shooting or why it was done.

Doing Nicely.—W. L. McCarty, superintendent of the Kings Mountain Canning Co., sends us word that he is doing a big business and that over 75,000 cans of tomatoes have already been put up. He has sold a half dozen or more car loads and the demand for his goods is greater than he can supply. We have predicted all along that under Mr. McCarty's management this enterprise would be a success financially as well as a great help to the community.

At the last term of court here "Santa Claus" Dalton was tried on a charge of selling whisky and fined $28 and given 15 days in jail. Dalton manifested considerable interest in the trial, but when the jury was sent to its room, he slipped out of the court-house and left town.

Several attempts have been made to catch him, but not until Tuesday night did the officers succeed. Constable Benedict found him in the McCormack's church section and notwithstanding the threats made by his wife brought him here and placed him in jail. Mr. Benedict says Dalton's wife gave him a fearful cursing, but when he threatened to handcuff her and bring her along with her husband she hushed up and became resigned to the situation.

Fields Salter, colored, was placed in jail yesterday charged with stealing chickens from Mr. J. B. Mershon.

Ladies, gentlemen and boys Macintoshes are now on hand at Shanks. They are cheap, they are stylish, they are good.

All persons having claims against Lincoln county must file same on or before Sept. 21, 1895, as no claims can be filed after that date. James F. Cummins, Clerk.

The K. O. broke the record the other night by making a round-trip to Richmond, with a heavy train each way, in four hours. It was Capt. W. H. Kirby's train and Engineer Henry Laumers was at the throttle. The freight business has been very heavy during this week and numerous extra trips have been made.

Wreck.—Seven coaches of the K. C. train which left here at 3 p. m., Wednesday, left the track at Point Leavelle without any apparent cause. The train was running slowly and nobody was hurt. The passengers were taken to Richmond on the engine and were not delayed much, but it took all night to clean up the wreck.

To-morrow and Saturday are field days at Middleboro and several Stanford athletes will take part. The base ball team of this place will play the home club a game each day, Put Geer and Sam Embury will likely start in the bicycle races and Mr. Geer will add to his laurels by showing the people of the Magic City what a sprinter he is. The Middleboro boys pay all expenses and promise the visitors a great time.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

Elder George Gowen's meeting at McCormack's will close to-night. There have been 12 confessions so far and the meeting has been a glorious one.

Orders have been sent to London for 5,000 Bibles, 5,000 hymn books and 5,000 catechisms, to be sold in the Fiji Islands. The Fiji Islanders gave nearly $25,000 to foreign missions last year.

The Kentucky conference will hold its 75th annual session in the Methodist church at Winchester, beginning next Wednesday morning, Sept. 18th, at 9 o'clock. There will be about 200 ministers and laymen present. Bishop A. G. Haygood, of Georgia, will preside.

The meeting recently held at Mt. Carmel by Elders Collier and Thomas, of Lexington, continued for three weeks. The interest was good throughout. On many occasions the house, as large as it is, was not sufficient to hold the people, and many were turned away. There were 32 additions.—Paris Kentuckian.

James Ewing, aged 85 years, and Margaret Christy 80 both of Crawford county, Pa., married Saturday. Sixty years ago that day they made a solemn vow that not until they were in circumstances to enjoy life would they marry. Ewing raised the mortgage on his farm the day of his marriage.

Mr. James Cash and Miss Allie B. Dodd were married in their buggy on the pike in front of Mr. John Murphy's residence near Hustonville about dark Tuesday evening. It was their intention to marry at McCormack's church at the conclusion of the services, but they happened to meet Elder W. L. Williams and decided to be joined heart and hand then and there. It was necessary to have two witnesses to the ceremony, so Mr. Murphy and Dwight Root, Jr., were called from the former's watermelon patch and in less time than it takes to tell about they were made husband and wife. The bride, who is only 17, is a little beauty. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Dodd, of McKinney, and was one of the most popular young ladies of her section.

Mr. Cash is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Cash and is a well-to-do young farmer. The happy pair went at once to Mr. Cash's farm where they will reside and where they will have with them always the good wishes of their legions of friends.

CRAB ORCHARD.

The Mt. Vernon base ball team will play the Crab Orchard boys next Saturday.

Fifty-eight persons left here Monday night for the G. A. R. and several more Tuesday and Tuesday night.

During the thunder storm Tuesday morning Mr. J. E. Carson's barn was struck by lightning and burned, destroying some stock.

The social event of the season was the watermelon fete given by the Crab Orchard boys at the residence of Mrs. Laura Moore. The lawn was brilliantly illuminated with Japanese lanterns and presented a beautiful appearance. Quite a large crowd was present and all agreed that Miss Alice entertained in her usual elegant manner.

The South Boston Iron Works were sold by the master commissioner to the Middleboro Town and Land Company for $63,000, the other bidder being C. M. Woodbury.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

FOR SALE OR EXCHANGE.

I would like to exchange my LIVERY STABLE in London, Ky., consisting of 15 good, fine Horses, Buggies, Drummers' Wagons, and in fact everything connected with a first-class stable, for a small farm of about 60 acres near Stanford. This outfit is almost new, having bought the most of it since the first of July. My only reason for wanting to dispose of the property is that I have other business that requires my whole time. The party who trades can have a five years' lease on the barn. This trade will suit anybody who wants to make money, for I have a good trade already established. I would like to have some correspondence with parties who have farms to trade.
